Hi, we're iClicker!

The world's most versatile real-time employee engagement platform.

The screenshot displays the iClicker interface for a poll. At the top, a question is shown: "Which aspect of the presentation do you think will have the most impact on your work?". Below the question are five multiple-choice options: A. Key insights or data presented, B. New strategies or approaches introduced, C. Concepts that challenge existing ideas, D. Practical tools or resources shared, and E. Nothing specific. To the right of the question, a "Poll Results" table is visible, showing the distribution of answers: 2 correct (A, B, D), 1 partially correct, and 1 incorrect. The interface includes a user profile for Karla Duvalis and a "Poll" label.

The screenshot displays the iClicker app interface. On the left, a question titled "Question 1: Multiple Choice" asks "What should you do if you are asked to perform a task you are not trained for?". Below the question is a QR code with the text "Scan the QR Code to answer". On the right, a "Results" panel shows a bar chart for the same question. The chart has four bars labeled A, B, C, and D. Bar A is the tallest, reaching 80% (40 responses). Bar B is at 10% (5 responses), Bar C is at 6% (3 responses), and Bar D is at 4% (2 responses). Below the chart are buttons for "Poll Settings" and "End Question". At the bottom of the app window, a floating toolbar shows "Click: 100" and icons for "Poll" and "Exit".

Option	Count	Percentage
A	40	80%
B	5	10%
C	3	6%
D	2	4%
